In addition, this New Mitchell has 26 features not found in other cars.

Some are extra equipment—like a power tire pump, reversible searchlights, gasoline primer on instrument board, etc.

Some are comfort features, like the Bate cantilever springs. No other car ever built compares in easy riding.

Some are beauties and conveniences—things you want and things you'd miss. When you see them—one by one—you will not want a car without them.

The Mitchell factory—covering 45 acres—was designed and equipped by John W. Eate, the famous efficiency expert. He has worked out here 10,000 factory economies. In ordinary plants a car like this would cost 20 per cent more to build.

That saving pays for these extras. They give you by far the greatest value to be found in a high-grade car. You will find a hundred things here to delight you.

Pleasant Reflections

It's a big load off one's mind to know that his storage battery is working right. Our expert service is an assurance of good starting and lighting.

Use Care in Starting

Free inspection of any battery at any time

Most all of us have gone along the street at some time or other, and heard a motor churn and churn under the power of an electric starter without any apparent results.

This is one of the most frequent causes of storage battery trouble according to a service representative of the Willard Storage Battery Co. He explained that very few motorists seemed to realize the immense amount of electrical power which is required to turn a motor, and what a considerable amount of driving at charging speed is necessary to restore same amount of current to the battery.

A little care in operating the self-starter will obviate this trouble. The driver should always make sure that the starting switch is thrown before attempting to operate the self-starter. Sometimes the gasoline tank is empty and under such conditions no amount of cranking would start the motor.

The ignition button should always be pressed in firmly and all wire connections should be tight. Occasionally the gasoline mixture is too weak and on most cars this can be adjusted from the dash. The coil and distributor should be kept perfectly dry in order for the current to reach the spark plugs.

We have as complete a workshop and a force of as good mechanics as will be found in this section of the state. No job too large or too small but what it can be handled and done in the right way.

G. D. P. OLD GUARD GIVES UP FIGHT

have enough strength to make a combination and forthwith in face of the great Hughes sentiment and had to quit. They decided to let nature take its course. Hence, they are looking for the nomination of Hughes rather early in the convention unless, indeed, some untoward thing happens, or some miracle is worked out by the one or two of the old guard who still retain vestiges of courage and are not so scared of naming Roosevelt that they tremble in a corner every time they think of the possible outcome.

Afraid of Roosevelt.

The trouble with programs the old guard have prepared and planned and the flaw in all the strategy is that one or two of their members and important members, too, one particularly—have never felt entirely sure that Roosevelt would not beat them. They haven't been sure. They have nervous apprehensions, they detest Hughes, but they prefer him for candidate and president to Roosevelt, and this panic of Rooseveltphobia and terror have so influenced the rest of the outfit that they all consented to Hughes bluntly. They are afraid of themselves, of their delegates, of their convention, and, principally, they are afraid of Roosevelt.

Wherefore, unless they buck up, they will allow Hughes to be nominated. That is, they will stand aside and not try to stop the nomination of Hughes. They do not know what reception Hughes will get from Roosevelt, whose O. K. is most valuable and will be still more valuable as things progress, nor do they know what the Progressives will do with Hughes, but as for themselves, they have exploded and thus ends that chapter. It will take more galvanizing apparatus than is on the ground to get them back into the fighting.

No Proposition from Colonel.

So far, there has been no proposition from the colonel, save an advertisement in the papers from the affluent George W. Perkins in which he advises the delegates to "go to it," the "it" being understood to be the colonel himself, so it is presumed they will take orders of the boss, and do that very thing.

The old guard meant well, but it was always in a parlous situation. It wanted harmony. But it couldn't harmonize. Moreover, the old guard was scared. It is an old guard, in truth, and its nerve isn't good, nor so steady as it was. It couldn't fight as it did even four years ago, it had not the big outstanding leaders. It had nothing save a lot of desires and nothing to enforce them with save a constructive program that leaked propulsive arrangements.

The fact of it is, the old guard has been haunted for three months. It has been harassed and harried by the fear that if something isn't done and done quickly in that convention that met in its first session today, Colonel Roosevelt will come into it and steal it away from them. They feared and felt that they couldn't hold it, they sensed a wild rush to Roosevelt if they kept ballot after ballot going. One or two of them are hustling about for an elixir that will restore their blasted brethren to a semblance of virility, but success in finding it is not likely. At present it looks as if the nomination of Hughes is assured and all because so-called leaders of the Republican party haven't faith enough in their carefully built, hand-picked convention to put it to test of standing out against Roosevelt for more than a ballot or two.

The Progressives ran true to form. The temporary chairman accidentally happened to mention the name of the colonel two minutes after he began to speak, and the Progressives cheered and shouted and sang and paraded themselves into a two-hour convulsion of howling loyalty for him. This means anything you choose to think it means, but, mostly it seems to mean that it will be a man's job to keep that convention from nominating Roosevelt.

Harding Torpedoes Himself.

The Honorable Warren G. Harding, fair-haired favorite of the old guard for the nomination, in case they could dispose of Roosevelt and Hughes and have a man of their own selection and sort, torpedoed himself in his opening speech. He was keynote but he was off the key, he was supposed to set the convention on fire, but only succeeded in setting it smoldering once or twice. He trod with all the old oratorical stuff across all the issues, but he didn't get anywhere. Mr. Harding had a chance to make a name for himself, instead, he made a stump speech.

Vale Harding. Wherefore it was a sad day, and a rainy day, and one place where it rained hardest was on the old guard. They are damp, dismal and depressed tonight.

PROGRESSIVES FINISH

DRAFT OF PLATFORM

tion. Of far greater permanent importance must stand a national industry efficient for the general welfare, a prosperity justly distributed, a national life organized in all points for national ends. Four years ago this party was born of a nation's awakened sense of these fundamental truths. In the platform then adopted we set forth our position on public questions. We here reaffirm these declarations. They are made on national issues.

A nation to survive must stand for the principles of social and industrial justice. We cannot permit the oppression of any class and expect of that class high ideals of patriotism. A country must be worth living in to be worth dying for. To make possible social justice to maintain our position in peace and war we must insure business and industrial prosperity. This can be done:

By a regulation of industry aimed at promoting its growth and prosperity and a just distribution of its returns;

By a conservation and development of our national resources, human and material;

By making a new standard of governmental efficiency thru a complete civil service system, a national budget and the destruction of pork barrel legislation;

By the creation of a permanent, expert tariff commission.

The protective system is essential to our national prosperity. Tremendous new pressures will be thrown upon our industries after the war by the highly mobilized production of Europe. At all times conditions of competition must be equalized between our own and foreign countries. We can only get the protection we need thru the use of exact and complete knowledge, unaffected by prejudice or politics. We can only secure that knowledge at all times and when needed thru such a commission.

We have set forth in this platform the plain essentials of national existence with which most men agree, which any man can propose. They are not new in principle. Our urgent and immediate need is for their performance. We have had ample experience with the promise; with words and the bitter taste of words retracted. We must find a man who not alone by words, but by past deeds, gives guarantee that he can and will make these ideals good. The issue is one of men, in the midst of world changes unparalleled in history we cannot forecast the problems which will confront our government during the way and at its end.

We there need as president a leader who knows the nations, a man who acts. If we continue longer to stand for words as above deeds, for hopes as above facts, we shall receive and merit the fate that surely awaits the man or people who do not face the truth.

We will meet and work with any man or party who sees the nation's need and puts forward a leader fit to meet it. We will accept no less in plan or in the man and we hereby solemnly charge upon those who place partisan politics above country, the dread responsibility for a nation's future, sacrificed to self interest and spoils.

LEADERS PREDICT

HUGHES' NOMINATION

rah of Idaho and former Representative W. B. McKinley were appointed a committee to escort Mr. Harding to the platform. The Idaho delegation announced that Senator Bohrah was unavoidably absent, so Mr. Crane and Mr. McKinley marched with Mr. Harding. His appointment was the signal for the first genuine outburst of applause, but it was brief, and he plunged into his prepared speech, appealing for harmony counselling the delegates that it was not a time for recrimination but a day of re-consecration.

Scores Democratic Administration. He spoke more than any hour, referring seldom to his manuscript, and interrupted frequently by applause and cheers as he scored the Democratic administration for inefficiency, incapacity and extravagance and declared the Republican party's allegiance to protective tariff and national defense. He closed with a peroration on Americanism and Republicanism which was marked with applause lasting less than a minute.

The delegates rose to their feet, some cheered, some hats were thrown in the air and there was some waving of handkerchiefs but they settled down quickly and the temporary chairman recognized in rapid succession speakers from the floor who offered the customary resolutions for perfecting the temporary organization. That quickly was over with the meeting places of the committees were announced and at 1:25 o'clock the convention was declared adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The delegates piled out into the driving rain where they found 1,000 automobiles furnished by Mayor Thompson's reception committee waiting for them. The committeemen assembled in hotels and the resolutions committee returned late to the Coliseum to give a public hearing to anyone who wanted to suggest planks in the platform. The first day's work was over quickly and comparatively quietly with everyone talking about the placid, matter-of-fact way things had started off. All the temporary officers will become permanent officers when the convention assembles tomorrow. That makes Senator Harding of Ohio permanent chairman. The motion to make all the temporary officers permanent was carried without a dissenting vote in the committee on permanent organization.

UTILITY COMMISSION READY TO CONFER ON LOCAL CASE

Willing to Hear Compromise Offer By Light Company In An Informal Way.

In accordance with the suggestion of L. E. Fischer, consulting engineer for the Jacksonville Railway & Light company, the state utility commission has sent out notices that the commission will be glad to meet informally all parties interested in the Jacksonville rate case Friday, June 9, at 10 a. m. in Chicago. Letters to this effect have been received by Dr. Edward Bowe, Dr. E. F. Baker and Mayor Rodgers in this city. The letters are signed by R. V. Prather, secretary of the commission, and do not give a formal summons for a hearing but indicate that the commission will be willing to meet parties to the case in an informal manner. The letter from the commission quotes a letter from Mr. Fischer as follows:

I have had an extended conference with the officials of the Jacksonville Railway & Light company with a view of determining the lowest possible schedule of rates upon which this company could attempt to operate in the hope of reducing to a minimum the anticipated losses.

Realizing that the situation at Jacksonville, by reason of the long litigation, has come to deserve special consideration both from the company and from the commission, I have induced the officials of the company to allow me to suggest informally to all interested parties and to the commission a plan of compromise and adjustment of the entire situation, upon a schedule of rates which I will submit."

He was the son of Benjamin and Elizabeth Ash and was born in England March 8, 1837. He came to this country and to Illinois in 1860 and settled near Winchester where he lived for many years becoming a resident of Jacksonville recently. He was united in marriage to Sarah Bellamy east of Winchester March 16, 1864. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. John Nolley of this city, William Ash of Murrayville, Oliver Ash of Winchester and Ernest B. Ash of Devils Bluffs, Ark.

MATRIMONIAL

Pyatt-Boxell.

Miss Bess Pyatt and Mr. Walton Boxell were married at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the study of Rev. Myron L. Pontius in the Central Christian church of this city. Only a few of the closest relatives were present, and the ring ceremony was used. The attendants were Mrs. J. W. Robertson and Miss Elsie Pyatt, sisters of the bride, and both of this city.

After the wedding rites were said, the bride and groom went to the home of R. L. Pyatt on North Church street, where a five-course wedding dinner was enjoyed by all. The home was decorated in pink and green and the dining room was in pink and white.

The bride was gowned in a traveling dress of grey taffeta, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of roses.

Both young people are well known in Jacksonville. The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pyatt, and is a charming and attractive young woman. She has been one of the valued teachers in the public schools. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Boxell, formerly of this city, but who now reside in Marion, Indiana. He was one of the most popular young men of this city, and the many friends of the young couple wish them all the happiness possible, and will always be glad to welcome them to Jacksonville.

Immediately after the dinner, the bride and groom left for Marion, Indiana, where they will start housekeeping at once. Mr. Boxell is in business with his father there, the firm having recently established a tea and coffee house.

SEVENTY-NINE DIE IN SERIES OF TORNADOES THAT SWEEP ARKANSAS

Many Victims are Killed Outright and 400 are Injured—Score of Injured in Serious Condition.

Little Rock, Ark., June 7.—Seventy-nine persons were killed Monday in the series of tornadoes that swept Arkansas from end to end. A revision of casualty lists tonight contained the names of that many victims of the storm who were killed outright and the names of 400 others who were injured. A score of the injured are in a serious condition. Sixty of the dead were white persons. Nineteen were negroes. As communication was re-established to day with sections which have been cut off from the outside world since the storm, stories of widespread devastation came to light. While no estimate of property loss has come from any official source it is believed the damage will amount to more than one million dollars.

Appeals for aid were received here from Heber Springs, where 22 persons were killed and from other places.

Little Rock chamber of commerce sent two trained nurses to Heber Springs and has started raising a relief fund.

Additional deaths reported today included Charles Reeves, a farmer, living near Imboden, in northern Arkansas, Mrs. Charles Confray and her 14 year old son, Earl Confray, who were killed near Pine Bluff. The remaining six members of the Confray family were injured.

Just Why Your Hair Falls Out

Alcohol in Hair Tonics, and Missing Hair Elements Always Cause Baldness.

A good many people have never believed that hair could actually be grown on a bald spot. That's because they have never seen the results of VOLA-VITA.

The hair on the right has shined up from the alcohol in hair tonics—the other hair is vigorous after treatment by VOLA-VITA.

cause it has really never been done before. But the way to do it, surely and beyond question, has now been discovered.

The new, scientific hair discovery, VOLA-VITA, actually does it. It is no longer a doubt, it is a fact. Hair has been analyzed and is found to contain five vital substances. Unless these are in correct quantities, hair loses its vigor. It dies, falls out, turns gray, dandruff and baldness result. When the missing substances are restored, a remarkable change results. VOLA-VITA restores these missing substances so wonderfully that hair quickly begins to grow lavishly, even on shiny bald heads, dandruff promptly and surely vanishes, and more remarkably still, the original color of the hair—whether it was black, brown or red—is restored to any gray, faded or bleached hair, without dye or stain. It is a wonderful re-vitalizer of hair roots and color-glands.

Alcohol in hair tonics always kills hair, drying up the secretions. VOLA-VITA contains no alcohol. There is no other hair treatment in the world like it. Your hair and scalp troubles are now solved. Satisfactory guaranteed.

VOLA-VITA is sold at all drug stores, $1.00 a bottle or sent direct by VOLA-VITA Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Jacksonville by J. A. Obermeyer & Son, Lee P. Alcott, Armstrong's Drug Store, Coover & Shreve, J. A. Long, Gilbert's Pharmacy and C. L. DeFew.

HARDING SOUNDS KEYNOTE AT REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

WOULD HAVE COUNTRY PREPARED FOR DEFENSE AS WASHINGTON URGED

Ohio Senator Urges Rededication of Party to Progress and Glory of the Republic and Burying of Party Prefixes With Administration Which Differences Put in Power—Avocates Protective Policy

Chicago, June 7.—With a plea for party reunion, for reconsecration rather than recommitment, United States Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, in his address as temporary chairman opened the Republican National convention here today. Asserting that the country was "wearied afeared by a disappointing and distressing Democratic administration," and was calling for Republican relief, the speaker, before undertaking to discuss political issues, appealed to the delegates to forget the differences which divided the party in 1912.

Referring to the administration's foreign policy in the European war, Senator Harding declared that it had spoken with more rhetoric than resolution. Mexican negotiations he described as the greatest fiasco in American foreign relations. He paid tribute to Americanism of foreign birth with brief reference to the few zealots who would impugn the nation's neutrality and urged a fraternity of American Republicans under the Monroe Doctrine. Advocating adequate national defense he charged the Democratic party with having interrupted Republican naval construction and he criticized the army reorganization bill. He also attacked the administration shipping bill, the effort made to extend independence to the Philippines, and made a plea for a return to the protective tariff.

"We did not do very well in making for harmony the last time we met," the chairman said in his appeal for harmony. "The country has regretted, let us forget—and make amends to our country. We did not divide over fundamental principles, we did not disagree over a national policy. We split over methods of party procedure and preferred personalities. Let us forget the differences, and find new inspiration and new compensation in an united endeavor to restore the country."

"Republican principles are in a vast majority in this country—when the banners of harmony are unfurled. We have witnessed the comeback of our party in various states. We have seen the re-enlistment of those who believe in Republican doctrine, and victory has followed and rejoicing has attended. No apology has been asked, no foreswearing required. This is not the time for recommitment, it is the day of reconsecration."

"Rededicating here and now the Republican party to the progress and glory of the republic, let us bury prefixes with the administration which our differences put in power. I do not believe there is a really reactionary Republican bearing credentials to this convention. If there is, he will depart, after our deliberations solely and proudly a Republican, with heart aglow with the party spirit of 1915. And the welcome delegate who emphasizes his progressivism, is expected to do his part in making our party a reflex of the best thought and best intent of sincere commitment to the uplift and progress of the American people, thereby strengthening party purpose instead of magnifying individual belief, and he, too, will find new rejoicing in being a Republican. No party can endure which is not progressive."

"The world at war, preparedness and America's foreign relations served as the basis for the Senator's first discussion of the issues. The enormity of the war in Europe, the tidal wave of distress and disaster, new wonders and new hindrances in commerce had utterly changed economic conditions, and "these have attended embarrassments in American foreign relations," he said, "as difficult as those which the individual citizen experiences whose neighbor is involved in deadly quarrel."

"Everything is abnormal except the depleted condition of the Federal Treasury, which is characteristic of Democratic control," he said, "and the facility of the administration for writing varied notes without effective notice." Amid these conditions, America he asserted had been singled out for leadership among the neutral powers "but the administration at Washington spoke with more rhetoric than resolution, and we came to realize that the warning powers soon came to know that the official American voice lacked the volume of determined expression that once demanded international heed, and we lacked the strength and confidence in our own defenses."

In the discussion of foreign relations the temporary chairman made particular reference to Americanism, to the course with Mexico and with Europe. Beginning with Americanism he traced it back to Independence days when there were Americans from Great Britain, from Germany, from France and Southern Europe who made a common cause. Since that time, he said, America's gates had swung inward to the foreign-born and "they are inseparable and important and valued part of our American citizenship, and the few zealots of any origin who violate our neutrality do not, and can not, impugn the loyalty or the American patriotism of that great body which adds to the swelling chorus of 'My country 'tis of thee, Sweet Land of Liberty'."

Expressing reluctance to speak of the division of American sentiment relating to foreign affairs, Senator Harding discussed briefly the Mexican problem. "It must be said, for the truth's sake and clearer understanding, we have hungered in vain for that unflinching Americanism at Washington which is needed to exalt the American soul," he declared. "There is no geographic modification of American rights. They are the same in Mexico that they are on the high seas, they are the same in Europe that they are in Asia, and are sacred everywhere, and the American spirit demands their fullest protection."

"Whatever the ultimate solution may be, history will write Mexico as the title to the humiliating recital of the greatest fiasco in our foreign relations. Uncertainty, instability, Mexican contempt and waning self-respect will be recorded in every chapter, and the pitiable story of sacrificed American lives and the destruction of lawfully-held American property will emphasize the mistaken policy of watchful waiting and wobbling warfare."

"Under the pretext of non-interference the Democratic administration miserably meddled. In the name of peace that same administration encouraged revolution, and the cost of American sacrifices was charged to endless war on Huerta, where the real American expenditure required only the voice of authority demanding protection to American rights. The unbiased critic will recite that the Democratic administration first coddled Villa as a patriot, then chased him as a bandit."

Respecting America's course with Europe the temporary chairman asserted that no political party could draw a "reliable chart for our ship of state amid Europe's warring ambitions."

"Justice," he continued, "points the way thru the safe channel of neutrality. There are dangers, seeming or real, looming on every side, but we should feel secure along the course marked by international law and our own conscientious conviction of American rights. 'Straight ahead' shall be the command, and when peace comes the sober judgment of the world will exalt us ever higher and higher as a people strong in heart and noble in the espousal of justice and justice's humanity. In that world-wide respect and confidence which needs only to be preserved, we shall have a lofty place in the great reconstruction, and we reasonably may hope to see this mighty republic again ministering to the reestablishment of peace and all its precious blessings."

In connection with foreign affairs the Senator also discussed envisioned relationships of the United States declaring that if this government is to urge the world's attention to international justice and to become the agency of a progressive civilization it "must assume the responsibilities of influence and example and accept the burdens of enlarged participation. The cloistered life is not possible to the potential man or the potential nation. Moreover, the Missouri-Yd-19rs-tsa k'd'-so shrd shrd h-ro doctrine, stronger for a century's maintenance, fixes an obligation of new-world sponsorship and old-world relationship. Our past must be dictatorial, it must be trusted leadership in a fraternity of American republics."

The Senator declared America had been negligent concerning its own defense and had been dwelling in fancied rather than real security and should heed the "warning in bleeding Europe." Republicans he said, believed in adequate national defense. The Democratic party, he insisted, interrupted when the Republicans were building to high rank among the naval powers.

"I shall not say that it is ours to have the greatest navy in the world," said the Senator "but noting the elimination of distance and the passing of our one time isolation, we ought to have a navy that fears none in the world, and can say anytime and anywhere—these are American rights and must be respected."

"There are manifest differences about our developments for military defense," he continued. "The President made a trip from the coast to the valley of the Missouri to tell the American people the need of preparedness. It might have been more seemly to tell the story to Congress, for that body was in session and empowered to act, and seemingly ever ready to testify obedience. However, Congress undertook to provide an army for defence and the majority wobbled between the pacification and preparedness until the Republican minority in the Senate put something real in the pending measure. We Republicans made a rational response to the call of the land, but Democratic inefficiency and inefficiency are recorded in the Conference-amended at, and a federal nitrate plant to supply powder to the patriots and pap to the paternalists and federal fertilizer to the farmers in competition with private enterprise is the greatest constructive offering of a Democratic majority."

America, the Senator said, proclaimed justice and loved peace "and we are not too proud to fight for them."

Turning to economics the Senator pleaded for a return to the protective tariff policy. He chose, he said, "the economic policy which sends the American workmen to the savings banks rather than the soup houses."

"No one," the Senator said, "disputes a temporary prosperity in our land today. But it is sectional in its factory aspect, abnormal in its feverish rush, fictitious in its essentials, and perverting in its tendency. Worse, it is the gold sluiced from the river of blood, poured out by the horrifying sacrifice of millions of our fellowmen. God forbid that we should boast a prosperity wrought in such waste of human life. We had rather rejoice in the prosperity of peace."

Discussing the Democratic party briefly the Senator said it had "proclaimed the sacredness of its pledges and then profaned them"; that it had "espoused the freedom of the seas and wrought only the freedom of the Panama canal," and had "professed economy and is staggered by its own extravagance." He attacked the shipping bill because of its ownership feature and the attempt of Democratic forces to extend independence to the Philippines, "to set adrift an island empire, in violation of our obligations to the world, to the Philippine people and ourselves."

Senator Harding concluded with a laudation of Americanism, which he said "begins at home and radiates abroad." The Republican conception gives the first thought to a free people and a fearless people, and bespeaks conditions at home for the highest human attainment. We believe in American markets for American products, American wages for American workmen, American opportunity for American genius and industry, and American defense for American soil. American citizenship is the reflex of American conditions, and we believe our policies make for a fortunate people for whom moral, material and educational advancement is the open way. The glory of our progress confirms. The answered aspirations of a new world civilization acclaim. We have taken the ideal form of popular government and applied the policies which had led a continent to the altars of liberty and glorified the republic. We have justified pride and fortified hope. We need only to preserve and defend, and go unflinchingly on. Power is the guarantor of peace and conscience the buckler of everlasting right. Verily, it is good to be an American. And we may rejoice to be Republicans."

Sowing and Reaping. (Temperance lesson) Gal. 6.

Golden Text: God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that also shall he reap. 1 Cor. 9: 24: 10.

1. Verse 1. All sins are no doubt faults as well, but would you say or not, and why, that all faults are also sins?

2. How does Jesus Christ look upon and treat a Christian who has fallen into sin?

3. If we detect a brother in sin, what is our immediate duty to him?

4. If instead of telling the erring one of his sin in a loving way, we say nothing to him, but tell it to some other person, how would you characterize the act?

5. If a young cigarette addict or a drinker, who has pledged himself to quit the habit, falls into the same sin again and again, what should we do with him?

6. May a Christian, by the grace of God, live without committing willful sin? Give your reasons.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED FOR MEMORIAL SERVICE

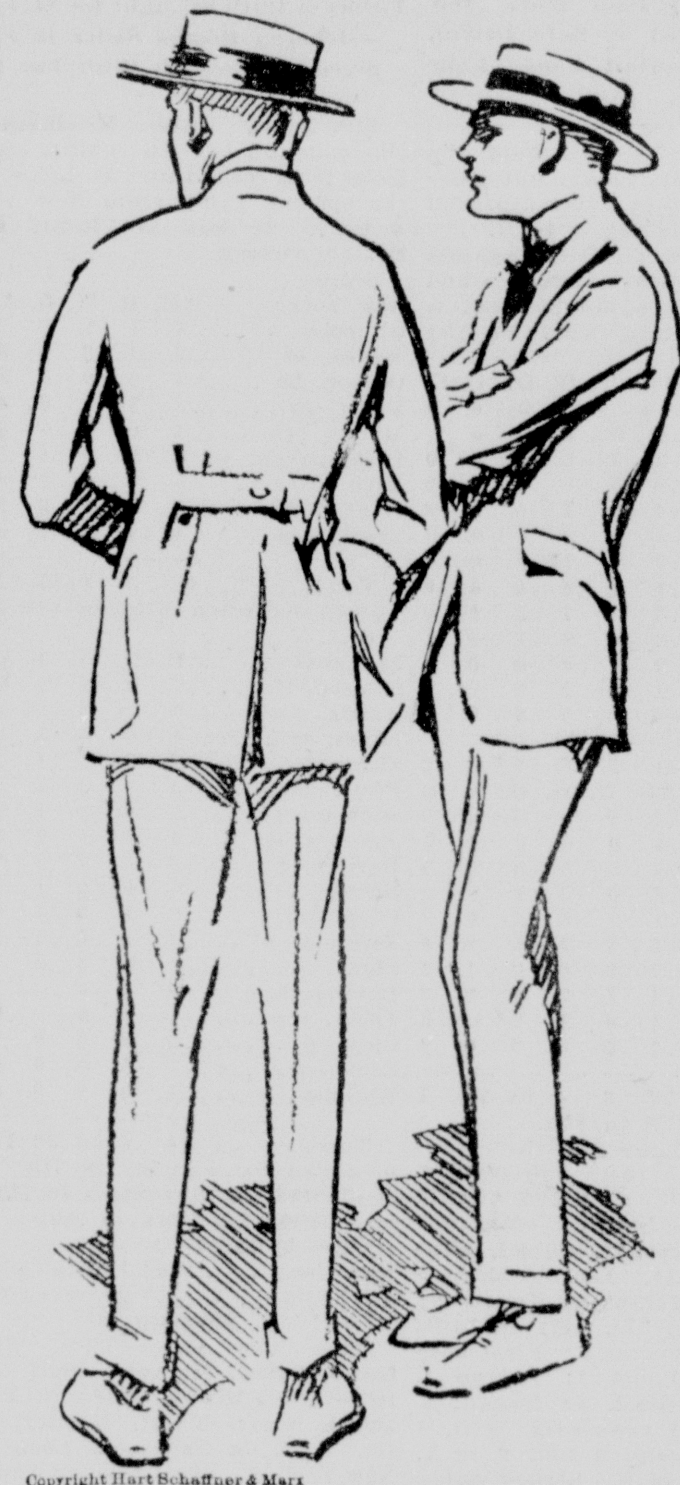

Illini Lodge, No. 4 and Urania Lodge No. 243, I. O. O. F., have appointed committees to arrange for the annual memorial services. F. M. Brewer, chairman of the committee of Illini lodge and also a chairman of the joint committee. The man members are C. W. Boston and Clark Rothwell. The committee of Urania is composed of Carl H. Weber, chairman, and R. E. Crabtree and F. J. Miley.

The committee has arranged for the memorial services for Sunday, June 18 at 3 o'clock. The services will be held in State Street Presbyterian church. The speaker has not as yet been selected.

The purpose of the committee in arranging afternoon services was to obtain a larger attendance. It was felt that many members wished to attend their own churches at the morning service. The members of the two Odd Fellows lodges will meet at Odd Fellows temple in East State street while the members of the two Rebekah lodges will meet at the hall of Urania in West State street. All of the lodges in this county will be invited to participate in the services. The program in detail will be given later.

years of academy work for entrance, and four years of regular and standard college work for graduating and a degree. It is most encouraging to note the rapid growth since 1905. I will give the figures for each year, showing the number of college seniors, the number of college freshmen, and the total college attendance, including only those who are enrolled as regular college students:

Year.	Seniors.	Freshmen.	Students
1909 ...	2	10	19
1910 ...	2	29	36
1911 ...	6	32	59
1912 ...	6	38	79
1913 ...	7	59	99
1914 ...	8	65	120
1915 ...	19	67	145
1916 ...	21	85	162

An increase of from nineteen college students to 162, and a senior class increase from two to twenty-one in seven years is a most remarkable achievement. In these seven years since the college took on full college rank, we have more college students than many of the colleges of Illinois and the Middle West that have been doing college work from forty to eighty years.

This rapid increase of college students makes it necessary to take another step in advance at this time, and gradually to abandon the academy. This will be done one year at a time, so as to keep all the Academy students here who desire to remain. But the coming year we will not give the work of the first year Academy, the following year the second Academy year will be eliminated, so that by September of 1919, only college work will be offered. In doing this, we are keeping company with the best colleges of the country, and are proving most conclusively the high rank of our collegiate work.

2. The Growth of the Faculty

In 1896, there were 15 members of the faculty.

In 1906, there were 25.

In 1916, there are 37.

There are as many members of the faculty at the present time as there were members of the faculty and boarding students combined in 1893, the first year of the present administration. It is not necessary to speak again, as I might do every year, of the efficiency and high scholarly attainments of these teachers, who not only are graduates of standard colleges, many of them with the Master's degree, but who have all had in addition to special training for their respective departments, and who also use nearly all their vacation time in still further special preparation for their work.

High Collegiate Rank

In these days of careful examination of standards, the best evidence of the work of a college is not in what it may claim for itself, but in the rank accorded to it by authorized standardizing agencies. Measured by this standard, the Illinois Woman's college has received unusual honors in the seven years since it assumed to be a regular college. It will be enough merely to enumerate them.

a. It is in Class A of the colleges of the Methodist Episcopal church as classified by the university senate.

b. It is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges.

c. It is in the highest class of the "Recognized College List" in the report of the Illinois state board of education. This entitles its graduates to receive certificates to teach in Illinois high schools without an examination.

d. It has been personally inspected by an official examiner of the University of Illinois, and has been officially placed in the highest university rank, namely, in Class A of the Graduate School List, and in Class A Plus of the List for Transfer of Credits. By courtesy among universities, this ranking secures similar recognition in other state universities.

e. The college is a member of the Southern Association of Collegiate Women, an honor accorded only to colleges of high rank, and its graduates are eligible to membership in any branch of this association.

f. If there is any other possible college recognition of high rank open to us, I would be glad to hear about it, because I have no doubt about securing it by making proper application. I confess to pride in making these statements of the unusual recognition of high collegiate rank. But I am sure you will agree that such pride is pardonable in a college, of seven years.

In 1893 there was only the main building 100 feet long, and the west wing 70 feet long. Note the additions:

In 1899, the east wing was built.

In 1900, the west wing extended.

In 1901, the Lorton property added on the west.

In 1902, the main building extended westward.

In 1903, the Self lot added on the east.

In 1904, the power house and laundry built.

In 1906, Music hall built.

In 1906, the Maid's college placed on the campus.

In 1909, Harker hall built.

In 1909, the dining room extended.

In 1910, the Maid's college enlarged.

And in connection with all the additions there have been equipped excellent laboratories for physics, biology, chemistry, and domestic science and art; fully selected library of 8,000 volumes; a well lighted and finely equipped art studio; beautiful society halls for four societies; and reception room, social room, halls and students' rooms have been beautifully and substantially furnished. For the College of Music we have one of the best equipped music studios in the middle west, an entirely new outfit of 47 pianos had been secured and by the generous gift of Dr. Welch we have one of the best college organs in the country.

Increases Financial and Material Resources.

"I invite particular attention to this item, and will make it as brief and clear as possible, giving it in periods of five years since 1896."

"The net assets of the college have been as follows in the different years:

In 1893, total assets, $75,000.

In 1896, $85,000, a gain of $10,000 in 3 years.

In 1901, $125,000, a gain of $40,000 in 5 years.

In 1906, $200,000, a gain of $75,000 in 5 years.

In 1911, $390,000, a gain of $190,000 in 5 years.

In 1916, $675,000, a gain of $285,000 in 5 years.

"Assets increased from $75,000 in 1893 to $675,000 in 1916—a gain of $600,000 in the 23 years. And there is no debt of any kind against this institution."

"It is interesting and worth while to note what a valuable business factor the college has been and is in the business life of Jacksonville."

"The first year of my administration, 1893-94, the current budget of income and expense for the college was $18,000. This has increased every year. I will not give the amount each year, but will show it again only by five year periods, as follows: (in round numbers):

In 1893-94. Current budget, $18,000.

In 1896. Current budget, $25,000.

In 1901. Current budget, $35,000.

In 1906. Current budget, $53,000.

In 1911. Current budget, $100,000.

In 1916. Current budget, $116,000.

"It is interesting to note that the large advances have been made whenever we have added more dormitory rooms."

"In the 23 years the aggregate current budget of the college has amounted to $1,300,000. In addition to this, the college has received in gifts nearly $500,000, so that a total of $1,875,000 has been brought into the business life of Jacksonville, most of it actually spent in trade, and most of the rest invested here, either in buildings or in loans and other securities. It has always been the policy of the college to buy its supplies at home, and an examination of vouchers will show that at least 90 per cent of the monthly payments are made to the business houses of Jacksonville. And it must

Rain Interferes With Farming.

C. E. Drake of the Chapin neighborhood was in the city Wednesday and commented on the fact that it was just a year ago that the hailstorm did such great damage in the vicinity of Chapin. Farm conditions are not especially satisfactory, according to Mr. Drake, as the heavy rain work in a number of fields near Chapin the corn has not yet been planted and in other fields a great deal of replanting has been necessary on account of the excessive rainfall. Wheat in that locality is only in fair condition, and the promised yield will not be up to normal.

Mr. Drake has sixteen acres of alfalfa, eight of it cut and on the ground. The rain Tuesday struck it but Mr. Drake believed the quality of the hay was not injured, altho the rain caused discoloration. When he cut the alfalfa he knew he was taking a strong chance with the weather, but the plants had begun to bloom and it was time for the cutting.

Minneapolis.—Miss Marian Towle

of this city and Rufus G. King, Jr.,

of Seattle, Wash., will be married tomorrow evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs.

George E. Towle. Mr. J. K. Wesson

of St. Louis will be the best man, and there are several bridesmaids, including Miss Ethel Hall of Chicago.

Mrs. Mary Thorndike arrived in the city yesterday from St. Cloud,

Fla., for a sojourn of several weeks.

The Scrap Book

The Snoots.

It was the first time young Mrs. Snoots had been away from her husband, and although she loved him dreadfully and all that, she was having such a nice time at Milly Van Hizzer's house party that she paid no attention to friend husband's letter entreating her to return immediately as there were hies in all his socks and he was having trouble with the eggs in the mornings.

On Wednesday, the 7th, when she opened the home town newspaper that Snoots sent her every day, she noticed that a small item had been clipped out. She took the next train home.

"George, what is it?" she demanded. "What have you been doing to get yourself in the paper?"

"Innocent," replied George. "When you gonna start on those socks?"

"I won't rest till I find out," vowed Mrs. Snoots. And she hied herself to the office of the Daily Night, asked for Tuesday's paper and hunted up the item. It was as follows:

"Personal.—I bet myself $5 curiosity will bring you back, George."

Without even wasting time going home for her baggage Mrs. Snoots took the first train back to Milly Van Hizzer's.—Detroit Free Press.

Self Sacrifice.

What though thine arm hath conquered in the fight,

What though the vanquished yield unto thy way,

Or riches garnered pay thy golden way, Not therefore has thou gained the sovran height

Of man's nobility! No halo's light From these shall round thee shed its sacred ray.

If these be all thy joy, then dark thy day And darker still thy swift approaching night.

But if in thee more truly than in others Hath dwelt love's charity; if by thine aid Others have passed above thee, and if thou,

Though victor, yieldest victory to thy brothers, Though conquering conquered and a vassal made,

Then take thy crown, well mayst thou wear it now.

—Samuel Waddington.

Terribly Chagrined.

Some people hate publicity like the young Detroit man. He was dressed in a tight fitting suit of the latest cut, and his whole costume was a dream of sartorial refinement. And he was plainly embarrassed as he entered the editor's office.

"I was intensely shocked to read a notice in your paper of my engagement," he began. "I cannot tell you how shocked I was. I was positively chagrined. My fiancée was chagrined. We were all chagrined. How much for fifty copies of the paper?"—Exchange.

Bringing the Hen to Time.

Why should a hen have any better right to cease her daily toil while she's molting than a woman has giving up housework when she decides to remodel her winter hat or darn the heels of her stockings? Hens have too much their own way about this laying business, which makes it exasperatingly inconvenient and exceedingly expensive for us consumers. Labor unions have often tried our patience, but when a low down brindle hen refuses to lay while her millinery and dress-making are under way it's carrying the thing a bit too far for enjoyment, and if she declines to arbitrate the matter under discussion her food supply should be cut off until she comes to her senses. A hen with such a disposition isn't fit for fricassee!—Cartoons Magazine.

It Had Its Limitations.

"Madam," said the young man who had called at the door, "I have the pleasure of introducing to you our new automatic housecleaning machine—a simple little thing which does the whole work of housecleaning, leaving you merely the general supervision."

"Does it do all, eh?" demanded the woman of the house. "Will it wash the outside of the upstairs windows?"

"Why, no, madam, but"

"Will it take down, wash, stretch to dry, iron and hang up the parlor curtains?"

"Well, of course, this machine"

"Will it paint the kitchen and make my daughter help with the dishes?"

"Oh, madam, this machine"

"Will it wash the winter bedding and put it away, lay down the furs with moth balls, sew on buttons, set three meals a day and pacify the household?"

"No, madam. You have misunderstood the limitations of my machine."

"Limitations! It will be a long time before any man will get up a machine to do all a woman has to do in her house."

The agent silently faded away.

All Great Men.

Once upon a time, as the story goes, a Frenchman visiting the tomb of Napoleon wrote on a convenient wall the lines:

"Bony" was a great man, a soldier brave and true.

An Englishman coming along a little later read this and added:

But Wellington did beat him at the battle of Waterloo.

The next visitor was an American, who, seeing the foregoing contributions, rushed into the competition with all of the restraint that characterizes the members of our great nation:

But braver still and truer far and tougher far than shoe leather

Was Washington, the man who could have licked them both together.

And doubtless he went away quite satisfied with his climax.

IMPENDING DEVELOPMENTS IN POLITICS CURTAIL ACTIVITY

Financial Community Focuses Its Attention Largely on Course of Events at Chicago.

New York, June 7.—Impending political developments were primarily responsible for the pronounced curtailment of speculative activity today, the financial community focusing its attention largely upon the course of events at Chicago. The progress of the two conventions were followed with far more interest than the irregular movements of stocks some of which plainly suggested the energy of pools and cliques.

In general rails were the strongest feature and gave the markets such foundation as it really possessed. Automobile stocks were under the adverse influence of additional liquidation. Mercantile marine preferred, the most active issue of the session, indicated the disappointment felt at the reported terms of reorganizations, but developed marked strength just before the close. Harvest issues featured the inactive industrials.

Aside from United States smelting which rose to a new record on its advance of 3 to 7 1/2, coppers and the metal group as a whole were apathetic. Total sales amounted to 445,000 shares. There was no repetition of yesterday's flurry in call money, which was in free supply at 2 1/2 per cent. Bonds were firm with buoyancy in Norfolk and Western 4 1/2 at 137 1/2 and a new high for marine 4 1/2 at 105. Total sales of bonds par value aggregated $3,160,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

REPORTS OF GERMAN MILITARY REVERSES CAUSE DROP IN WHEAT

Market Closes Weak 1 to 1 1/2 Cents Net Lower—Corn Shows Resistance to Selling Pressure.

Chicago, June 7.—Reports of German military reverses were taken as a pretext for a selling drive today in the wheat market here. As a result the market closed weak, 1 to 1 1/2 c net lower; with July at $1.04 1/2@ 1/4 and Sept. at $1.06 1/2. Corn finished at the same as yesterday's windup, oats 3/4 to 1/2 off and provisions at an advance of 2c to 5 1/2c.

War news appeared to have no effect on the wheat market until the last hour of the session. Then the bears seized on assertions that fortune had apparently turned to an important degree in favor of the French and Russians. Although current news despatches hardly seemed to warrant inferences of any radical changes in the war status, and notwithstanding the recent British naval losses had caused a sharp decline in the wheat market, holders became nervous and there was a decided flurry of selling as the day came to an end.

Corn showed more resistance to selling pressure than the case with wheat. Signs that receipts would decrease from now on appeared to be the chief influence —by keeping your teeth REALLY CLEAN.

"But," you say, "I brush my teeth regularly, yet they decay." Yes, you brush them, but do you REALLY CLEAN them? Tonight, after brushing your teeth, examine them closely. You will likely find an accumulation of tartar on the enamel and bits of food deposit hiding in the crevices.

Decay, as well as the dangerous gum disease called Pyorrhea, usually develops only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present. SENRECO, the formula of a dental specialist, keeps the teeth REALLY CLEAN. It embodies specially prepared soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Moreover, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea.

Go to your dealer today and get a tube of Senreco—keep your teeth REALLY CLEAN and protect yourself against Pyorrhea and decay. Send 4c to Senreco, 304 Walnut St., Cincinnati, Ohio, for liberal-sized trial package.

be remembered that most of the college income is from outside of the city, so that it is not merely an exchange of Jacksonville money, but an actual inflow from other towns and other states. Not many other businesses in the city can show such a contribution. And this does not include the hundreds or thousands of dollars spent by the students personally in that time.

In the last 18 years the college has added in buildings nearly, if not altogether, $250,000. What other institution has made such a contribution to the building trades of this city?

"Altogether then, in growth in numbers and in grade of students and of faculty, in the advance in college rank, and in the remarkable increase in buildings, grounds, equipment, and endowment, the record is one to inspire gratitude for the past, pleasure and satisfaction for the present, and inspiration for the future."

The year has been marked by energy and harmony in all student organizations. The College Greetings, a monthly magazine published by the students, has had a very prosperous year, closing with a good balance in the treasury, and making a generous gift from its funds to the library and also to the new gymnasium. Special attention is called to the May number of the Greetings, edited by an alumnae committee as the Seventieth Anniversary number, and containing much valuable historical material.

"The Junior class issued a very creditable number of the Illinois, and also closed the year with a good balance on the right side of the ledger. It is a great pleasure to record that it is the rule at the Woman's college for all its organizations, societies and clubs to live within their income, and the pleasure is greater when it is recalled that this is not the rule among college organizations generally. But it is excellent preparation and promise for the right management of both private and community finances after leaving college halls."

"The fitting up of the old chapel so that it is now both a chapel and an all-students' social room, with its ample and cheerful fireplace, has been a joy to the students; and the beautifying and refurnishing of the reception room and the college halls, under the supervision of Mrs. Plmer, Mrs. Lambert, and Mrs. Barker, is appreciated not only by all who live in the college home, but by all who visit as well."

The Seventieth Anniversary. We especially welcome at this seventieth anniversary all former students and alumnae. The college is rich in its more than twelve hundred graduates, and its more than ten thousand former students who have here received inspiration and help for their life work. How unvarying the testimony is from all who ever attended here of the benefits received, and the happy and helpful associations of the college life. And it is gratifying to see and increasing affection for the college, a growing desire to assist in its still further upbuilding.

The increasing activity and interest of the Alumnae association and of the several college societies are shown in the current alumnae reports. Each year shows a marked advance. The Chicago society is beginning to do some notable work under the able leadership of Miss Clara Allen, president last year, and Miss Emma March, president for this year.

"Many of these college daughters are doing much for the dear old college. I wish I could begin to mention names. But the list would be long, and I must not enter on it. However, I cannot forbear to speak with great commendation of the notable work done by Mrs. Jennie Kinman Ward, for so many years the able and inspiring treasurer of the Alumnae Memorial Scholarship fund. Her report speaks for her more eloquently than any words of mine. We greatly regret that she cannot be with us, but we assure her of our appreciation and our love."

The Endowment Figure. The past year is notable for the successful completion of Dec. 31, 1915, of the campaign begun in 1912 for $250,000. The closing days of 1915 were strenuous days, but they were glorious days, and will always be "red letter days" in the Woman's college calendar. It was a glorious victory. It showed that the college has a warm place in the hearts of thousands of friends, and gives a confident assurance that the college will receive in the coming days all that its friends can be made to see that it really must have.

Just as I wrote these words, I received a telegram of the death of our generous friend and benefactor, Mr. William A. Rankin, who sent us $10,000 less than three months ago. Mr. Rankin was greatly interested in education, and has been a liberal supporter of several schools. He not only gave his money, but he gave himself in personal interest. We deeply mourn his decease, and send assurance of sincere sympathy to his bereaved family.

The Library's Growth. This has been a good year for the library. The college was able to make a generous appropriation, by which every department secured good library additions. A great many friends have sent in valuable books. Especial mention should be made of the gifts of Mrs. Elizabeth Galley, of Jacksonville, and Mrs. Susan E. Butler, of Brighton, Ill. But the largest gift comes from the generous thoughtfulness of the late Julius E. Strawn, already so liberal a college benefactor. Before his death two years ago, Mr. Strawn had arranged with a friend in Chicago that the Woman's college should have a thousand books, from this friend's private library. Through the kindness of Mr. Gates, Strawn and Dr. David Strawn, this valuable gift has just been realized and the books are already here.

But these large additions to the library brought another embarrassment. The present library room is already full, so that it was impossible to use the books. In this embarrassment a friend was found who offered to build a stack room on the west side of the present library, large enough to hold from 15,000 to 20,000 volumes, and to provide for the growth of the library for at least seven or eight years, if the trustees would be willing for such an addition to be built. I am glad to report that the board has accepted this generous offer, with a vote of thanks to the donor and that the executive committee have been authorized to proceed at once with the proposed addition.

I may say in passing that we need also about $2,000 for additional book stacks and new equipment for the library, and we are looking for another friend!

The Gymnasium—1916. "A year ago I called attention to the imperative need of a new gymnasium. The need is even greater now. I said that we were seeking friends to make the gymnasium possible. It was my pleasure to report to the trustees at a recent meeting that at least a beginning has been made in finding these missing friends. One friend generously proposed to give $1,000 for the foundation, and another friend has agreed to be responsible for the swimming pool, complete and equipped with heater and filter. This will make a beginning possible, and we feel so sure that, for a need so imperative, other friends will respond promptly, that the executive committee has been instructed to begin at once this greatly needed and long hoped for improvement. The campus will again this summer be the scene of active building operations, and 1916 will see two more additions made to the list of buildings already given."

The Need of Friends. "Many years ago, in an address on 'The Making of a College' I said: 'The greatest need of a college is not money, or students, but friends.' The statement remains forever true. The remarkable growth of the college, which I have just outlined, has been wholly because we have been able to find an increasing host of friends, who are coming to love the college more every year. I have given some figures as to the total assets of the college. But these figures are far from the actual fact. The assets of the college are its friends. Back of the seen resources on this campus are the hearts and hopes and prayers and personal endeavors and the money of its thousands of friends, who will do for the college whatever they can be made to know and to feel that the college really needs."

Just now it is the gymnasium. As you see, friends are still needed for the walls, and the roof, and the furnishings, and equipment. The students are already coming with their gifts. The Greetings board have just contributed $100. And thru the summer and thru next college year the whole body of these friends will be earning and saving to this end. I am fully expecting for this gymnasium appeal the most hearty and spontaneous and liberal response we have ever yet had."

Now For the Future. "The past has been glorious and inspiring. But, though seventy years old, we still have the heart of youth, and we believe that the near future has in it more of advance than the near past has had, and we expect still to have a hand in it."

"You noticed that each five periods has shown a rapidly increasing advance. Let me recall: "From '96 to 1911 the advance was $40,000. "From '01 to '06 it was $75,000. "From '06 to '11 it was $150,000. "From '11 to '16 was $285,000. "And we confidently expect that the period from 1916 to 1921 will show at least a corresponding increase."

"At the commencement of 1911 I asked you to come to the seventieth anniversary and see just what we are seeing today. Practically every item of the program, then seemingly impossible, is already realized and accomplished. A year ago I invited you to come to this commencement and told you that we expected to show you the successful completion of our endowment campaign, and that the gymnasium would be secured. And God has graciously given us our hearts' desires. Now let us again lift up the curtain of the future, and suggest what we expect to realize in the next five years."

The Diamond Jubilee in 1921. "In 1921, five years from now, the college will have reached its 75th year, and will celebrate a great Diamond Jubilee anniversary. And by that time, in the good providence of God, the college expects to increase its assets by $400,000, making its endowment at least $300,000 more, a total of half a million, and adding $100,000 more to its present plant and equipment. By 1921, the total assets of the Illinois Woman's college, for endowment, plant and equipment should be $1,000,000."

"How can it be done? Just as it has been done in the past twenty-three years—by vision, and courage and persistence, and faith. By finding friends and believing in them—by letting the friends know what and why the college needs, and by every friends doing something, by gift, large or small, by gifts on the annuity plan, by gifts of houses or lands or stocks or bonds or cash—in whatever way love may devise. 'Love will always find a way.'"

"Fourteen years ago, I issued an appeal to the friends of the college, asking for $250,000. I was called a 'dreamer,' a 'visionary,' and told it was 'impossible.' But since then we have received twice as much as asked for. After fourteen years

I have only the same appeal to make, and I cannot express myself better than by quoting what I said fourteen years ago.

"The President's Policy." "The college can and must be built. God helping me, I expect to do my duty in constantly stirring up the trustees and friends to their full measure of duty for the school. The college came to us already built, nay three times rebuilt; it came with a noble history; it came with a large opportunity, and no friend need expect rest from working and giving to the extent of his ability. It would be our shame to have received such a trust and not improve it by earnest effort, and every means we can devise."

"The president expects to persist in appeals; as soon as one object is gained he will turn without rest to the accomplishment of another. He should not be allowed to work alone; friends should not wait till he calls on them each year to make their gifts. The trustees and nearest friends should give without asking; they should be asking others to give, and the president should have time to seek new friends each year, and not be obliged continually to do the first work over again. My friends, how far can I depend on you? Will you not seriously consider on annuity or by-will?"

"To quote and apply Domie in the Bonnie Brier Bush: "The grass 'il no grow on the road between the college and the friends of the college till they lay me in the auld kirkyard.'"

"Except the Lord build the house they labor in vain who build it. But this is His work, we are His servants and stewards. He has commanded us to 'ask and we shall receive.' Our duty is to obey. With a firm reliance on His help, we salute the past, and resolutely set our faces toward the duty of the coming day."

EAST LIBERTY SCHOOL CLOSURES WITH PICNIC

Miss Kenyon Has Had Successful Term—List of Pupils Neither Tardy Nor Absent.

The East Liberty school, two miles west of Orleans, in the vicinity of the home of Frank E. Drury closed Tuesday after a successful term of nine months taught by Miss Miriam Kenyon who has given such good satisfaction that she has been engaged for another year. The children and parents had intended to have an out door picnic in the near by grove but the rainy weather made that impossible so they had the affair in the school house which was well filled with parents and children and all proceeded to have a good time. With such a gathering this was not at all difficult and all proceeded to be at ease and to help everybody else have a good time and the result was what might have been expected in that neighborhood.

The school numbers a good many pupils and all are wide awake and ready for business and the showing of the year has been good. The dinner was naturally a leading feature of the festive occasion and any one knowing that neighborhood knows what good things the ladies can prepare and they did themselves credit on this occasion loading the desks with all manner of good things. It was hard to leave when the time came out all parted with the best of wishes.

The following pupils were neither absent or tardy the last month of school. Bessie Negus, Tomlin Drury, Anna Adele Negus, Margaret Bennett, Francis Bennett and Sarah Davis.

Valuable Health Hints For Our Readers

CATARH
Just because you hawk and spit and your nose is wet, cold, red, sore and a nuisance, don't merely plug it up. You can't cure catarrh by greasing your nose. Treat it regularly and you will drive catarrhal poisons out of your blood. The membranes will soon recover and no longer continue to accumulate the mucous that gathers and thickens into catarrh. S. S. S. stimulates the cells of the tissues to select from the blood their own essential nutriment. Rapid recovery from catarrhal inflammation in the stomach, kidney, bladder and all membranes is the result.

MALARIA.
Throughout the country, wherever malaria abounds, are happy, joyful people to whom S. S. S. has given wonderful help in the treatment of malaria after the most sickening torture imaginable.

The giant complexion of malaria's victims, the chills and fever, the malarial dysentery that seems to defy all other treatment, the malarial leg, the enlarged liver, the persistent anemia where the blood turns to water and the system wastes away. These are the conditions that S. S. S. so effectively assists in overcoming, by helping to restore the blood to its natural vigor.

Sometimes a sore spot becomes indolent. The tissues surrounding it lose tone and are unable to provide sufficient nutriment to stop the drain. It is then chronic. Just saturate your blood with S. S. S. This is quickly accomplished, as S. S. S. is naturally assimilated the same as milk or any other healthful food.

Nature acts with marvelous rapidity when given the proper assistance, and S. S. S. so stimulates cellular activity that the parts surrounding an ulcer secrete from the blood the materials that make new tissue. Thus the sore spot rapidly heals in a natural way.

Local applications for any skin disease will afford protection from without, but have no medical value. Eczema, tetter, acne and all such eruptive diseases should be treated with S. S. S.

POISONED BLOOD.
So many different things contribute to poison the blood and the effect is so startling that the sufferer becomes panic-stricken and is led to use harmful drugs. If you have any blood trouble, get a bottle of S. S. S. and take according to directions.

Don't take anything else. Poisoned blood is bad enough without ruining your bones, joints, teeth and vitals with minerals. S. S. S. so stimulates cellular activity that they reject all poisonous influences and select only those materials in the blood that make healthy tissue. This is why its assistance toward recovery is so noticeable and at times remarkable.

S. S. S. is welcome to the weakest stomach and is assimilated just as readily as the most nutritious food. It has helped to cure a host of sufferers.

RHEUMATISM.

In any form of rheumatism give the blood a good effectual cleansing with S. S. S.

Use this remedy for three days and take a hot salt water bath to open the pores. This relieves the lungs and kidneys and assists S. S. S. to utilize the skin as the principal avenue of elimination.

Avoid salts, calomel and other drastic purgatives, as they absorb the moisture from the walls and membranes of the intestines, weaken the muscular action, produce chronic constipation and thus stagnate the system with rheumatic poisons. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store. Don't make a substitute.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable and is prepared only by the Swift Specific Co., 271 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write for special booklet on any of the diseases mentioned and if medical advice is wanted, write for that also to address given above. Both booklet and medical advice are free.

Too Soon For Her.

Appropos of those who never enjoy the luxury of a carriage save when the death of some one makes for a free ride to the cemetery a clergyman told of a little girl standing at Fifth avenue and Thirtieth street, New York. She was a ragged little thing, and she was watching some carriages rolling past with the most wistful blue eyes.

"Well, little one," he said, "would you like to own one of those carriages?"

The blue eyes turned up, and there were tears in their corners.

"I never rode in a kerridge," she said softly. "Me little brudder died afore I was born."

Once!

"And when was the last appearance of your piece?"

"On the first night."

THE PET CANARY.

How to Take Good Care of a Captive Bird.

Allow the bird to bathe but twice a week and clean cage then. Coat the bottom of cage with gravel. Give fresh water after thoroughly washing water cup.

Empty seed cup every morning and give a little over a teaspoonful of best bird seed. It must be the best if you want a good singer. This seed is not bought at any grocer's, but comes from a bird store. Empty the box of seed into a vessel with a tight cover, like a preserve jar. Seed exposed to air becomes as hard as stale bread, and the bird won't relish it. Take off the swinging perch, for it makes the bird lazy. The best singers are lively.

Give a tiny piece of apple or water-cress or cabbage once a week. This regulates bowels. The hard boiled egg is used only at breeding time. During the season when wild birds mate the captive bird is depressed and won't sing.

Another very necessary word of advice is to love your bird. Like children, it responds to love and thrives better for it. A piece of cuttlefish bone is always necessary, fastened to the bars. If your bird still continues to remain silent go to a first class bird store, where you will get excellent advice and remedies for any bird disorder. You can buy a book on the care of captive birds.

How to Avoid the Short Life of Bleached Linens.

The linens of olden days were handed down from mother to daughter, but such is far from being the case today, owing to the difference in bleaching. Where formerly it took months of sunshine and rain to bring about the desired whiteness, now it is done in two or three days by means of strong mineral gases, whose fumes bleach, according to their strength, more or less quickly. So it is not a poor idea to buy linen which is not yet bleached white, as a few trips to the laundry will remedy this, and in addition it is cheaper, for the bleaching process is a costly one. Then, too, the use of tablecloths and sheets would be lengthened appreciably since overbleaching rots the fibers. This is why blouses seem to melt away in spots.

How to Bake a Cake in the Most Scientific Way.

PRESERVE YOUR CHILD'S HAIR

When your child is grown the condition of and amount of his or her hair will depend largely upon the way it is cared for now.

The human hair is composed of about 175,000 delicate oil plants. Ordinary soaps and shampoos will soon destroy the natural oil and the fatty roots of these plants, making the hair dry and brittle or destroying it entirely. EVERY WEEK SHAM-POO is an anti-septic oil shampoo that cleanses and purifies the scalp thoroughly and leaves the hair just as nature intended, soft, fluffy, silky and the scalp slightly moist with oil, but no surplus oil in the hair. It is a most excellent shampoo for children as well as adults. Large bottle containing 64 teaspoonfuls 50c.

ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENCE

The Hague, Netherlands, June—Official figures just published show that the Netherlands merchant fleet on December 31, 1915, numbered 787 ships aggregating 769,379 net register tons, including 337 steamships totalling 724,799 tons and 350 sailing vessels measuring 44,571 tons. This compares with 809 ships of 766,044 net register tons at the end of 1914, of which 407 were steamships and 402 sailing vessels.

During 1915, 56 steamships and 126 other vessels aggregating 71,011 net register tons were lost, sold or broken up, but this was, as shown, more than compensated for, so far as tonnage goes, by newly built or bought ships.

Marked effects of the war are visible in the annual reports of the Rotterdam Lloyd, which maintains the mail service between Holland and the Dutch East Indies and in cooperation with two other Dutch concerns, carry on the new line between New York and Java.

While falling short of those booked by sister companies, the profits reported are still large. The gross balance of the Rotterdam Lloyd is $4,016,730, or double that for 1914, while that of the Rotterdam Lloyd is $3,048,820 as against $1,775,302, in 1914. Both concerns pay a dividend of 10 per cent as compared with 7 1/2-12 for 1914.

The Java-New York line developed strongly. In proportion as the European markets became closed to Netherlands' Indian products, the need of shipping facilities to the American markets made itself felt; and, according to the Rotterdam Lloyd, American industry also threw itself energetically on the Netherlands' Indian market, in the absence of European competition.

Serious stagnation is threatened in the mailboat service to the Dutch East Indies, owing to the situation arising out of the torpedoing of the steamships Tubantia and Palembang. Following the example of the Holland-America line, the Netherlands Lloyd has decided to take their big new ships out of the service for the rest of the war.

The companies announce that they are prepared to maintain the service to the East Indies with smaller passenger ships if the government will bear part of the risk.

Peking, June—China's new Premier, General Tuan Chi-jui, is no stranger to public affairs in his country. Past sixty years of age, he has been identified prominently with the army for more than half his life and is representative of much that is best in the new China movement, at the same time being considered acceptable to the great mass of his compatriots who cherish China's old ideals.

The General and President Yuan Shi-kai have been life-long friends, altho their long association in official life did not deter Tuan Chi-jui from resigning from the Ministry of War in his executive's cabinet, when it became apparent that the government was favoring the restoration of the monarchy.

Tuan Chi-jui is a reformer without being an absolute iconoclast. He would not destroy that which is dear to old China, but rather would have it conform to new conditions.

The Premier's home is a modern European house, situated in a walled compound in the northeastern section of Peking. A great garden which in April is bright with cherry blossoms and flowering shrubs surrounds the residence. At one end of the big brick structure is a semi-circular sun-parlor, unostentatiously furnished in European style.

Zurich, Switzerland, June—Three professors of Zurich University have been experimenting in the hope of training the muscles in the stumps of amputated arms to connect with artificial hands in such a way as to open and close the fingers. Professor Sauerbach, one of the professors, states in a German medical magazine that the anatomical difficulties have been overcome so effectively that all that is now required for complete success is a somewhat better artificial hand, and he expresses expectation that this soon will be invented.

Berlin, June—The business and activity of the Imperial Bank have so increased that an annex is going to be erected within a short time. A Berlin construction company has been engaged for the work, and it has already purchased more than thirteen lots and will tear down the old buildings on them to make room for the new structure.

London, June—Philatelists must be on the alert to keep track of the new stamp issues brought about by the war. According to information received here Turkey has issued a set of five stamps to mark what purports to be Turkish occupation of "Somewhere in Egypt."

Somewhere also that the Germans have suppressed the Warsaw Citizens' post, and a curious position arises in connection with the stamps of the temporary institution. It is illegal to deal in these Warsaw labels in Germany and they are regarded as stamps of enemy origin in England, France, Russia and Italy and consequently it is illegal to import them.

Berlin, June—When the recent German loan was in process of subscription it was the impression among many bankers that small subscribers were not coming forward so numerously as for the loan of last September. Figures now published disclose on the other hand that the number of small subscribers for this latest loan was greater than for any previous issue. No fewer than 4,259,988 Germans subscribed for amounts of 1,000 marks ($238) each, whereas in this class of subscribers for the September, 1915, loan, entered only 2,761,212 names, and that of March, 1915, 1,943,359 names. Bankers declare that these figures indicate that the war loans are growing more and more popular among the poorer classes of the people.

Buenos Aires, June—The Corn Exchange report for the year ending May 1 shows that not only has the area under cultivation been maintained but increased. While for the year 1914-15 the area under wheat was 6,261,000 wheat acres, figure for the present year is 6,450,000 hectares.

The tendency last year was to extend the wheat area, but the results of the harvest were not such as fully to justify the farmers' foresight. The climatic conditions were unfavorable from the planting to the reaping season, and the grain gathered was light in quality and not very generous in bulk. The Exchange estimate is 2,800,000 tons available for export. In regard to the other crops the estimated amounts available for foreign markets are: linseed, 800,000 tons; oats, 850,000 tons; corn, 2,000,000 tons. Barley and rye figure among the country's produce but there will be little if any available for export.

Berlin, June—The authorities of the prison camp at Griesheim, near Darmstadt, have had a small but complete atelier fitted up for Leo Gail, the Parisian sculptor. The French artist's first work consisted of medallion portraits of the officers of the camp. Additional material was then furnished him, and he has just completed a piece of work which many persons consider the best thing he has ever done. It is a monument for French prisoners who have died in Darmstadt. The shaft, to be erected in the Darmstadt cemetery, shows a dying French soldier lying on a flight of marble stairs, his gaze fixed on relief portraits of parents, brothers and sisters on the face of a marble wall which runs along the top of the stairs. From the wall rises a statue personifying France. The names of the dead are carved on the ends of the wall.

London, June—Official figures which show that since the war began there has been an average increase of 49 per cent in the prices of food-stuffs in England suggest the failure of the economy movement, designed to impress upon the nation the obligation of being thrifty in the consumption of food, so as to curtail imports and keep down prices.

The purchasing power of a pound ($5) is now but a trifle more than $2.50.

Compared with both a year ago and two years ago there are large increases in the imports of grain and flour, meat and dutiable articles of food.

London, June—According to Lloyd's Register of Shipping the total addition to the Register of the United Kingdom during 1915 was 655 steamships of 1,461,316 tonnage and 152 sailing vessels of 61,934 tonnage. Removal from the register during the year were 741 steamers of 1,452,679 tonnage and 3334 sailing vessels of 82,222 tonnage, so that during the year steamers on the register decreased by 86 but the tonnage increased by 9,157 while the number of the sailing vessels decreased by 382 and the tonnage by 20,288. The total number of vessels on the register on December 31st last were approximately 12,776 steamers of 19,154,277 tonnage and 8,021 sailing vessels of 844,391 tonnage.

During the year 377 new steamers were built, 77 bought from foreign countries, 14 transferred from Colonies and 192 acquired under the heading of "other additions," which includes enemy vessels requisitioned.

Sixty one new sailing vessels were built, 15 bought from foreign countries and 75 obtained under "other additions."

Removals of steamers from the register are classified as 592 lost or broken up, 71 sold foreign, 19 transferred to Colonies, 59 "other deductions."

Vessels sold foreign include 17 steamers, 78,478 tons, and six sailing vessels, 9,870 tons, sold to the United States.

Of sailing vessels, 270 were lost or broken up, 27 sold foreign, two transferred to Colonies, 35 "other deductions."

The number of new steamers added to the register during the year shows a decrease compared with 1914 of 395 vessels of 557,059 tonnage.

Economy Hints

It is well to remember that if you save a cent on a purchase of 5 cents or more you are saving not only a cent, but 20 per cent, which seems more worth while. When using a dozen eggs, as happens in big families often, in others on occasions, try scraping out the eggshells with a spoon. This will give you the amount of one egg and is well worth saving, especially while eggs are so very high. When eggs are cheap they should be put down for the winter. Packed in water glass, they are just as good for any form of baking and will keep a year if properly done. A quart of water glass added to twelve quarts of boiled and cooled water put into large stone crocks after the eggs are placed will keep them perfectly. The eggs should of course be perfectly fresh and great care taken not to crack them. Cover the jar and keep in a cool place.

One of the common wastes in most homes is the unscrapped mixing bowl. Spatulas may now be bought at the ten cent counter, and a few turns with a spatula will scrape out a dish, often saving the amount of an individual cake or gem or biscuit. If round bottomed mixing bowls are used for the dough mixtures, the scraping process will be much shortened, as the spatula, being flexible, will take up every bit of the dough.

When apples are used if the parings are saved and boiled with a little water, then the water added to equal quantities of sugar and boiled, a glass of jelly or two, which will be fresh and inviting, will be ready for your table.

A LAUNDRY NOTE.

How to Wash Starch For Thin Fabrics and Make Children's Gingham.

One and one-half tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, a quart of water, one-half teaspoonful of borax and one-half tablespoonful of shaved paraffin.

The starch is rubbed in a little cold water, and then into it the quart of freshly boiled water is stirred. Let it cook for two minutes, stirring all the time. When it turns slightly blue add paraffin and borax and cook a minute, stirring hard, but taking care not to scorch it. Strain through double cheesecloth, add enough bluing water to color the starch and then bottle it.

Colored materials have to be "set" at before being laundered—that is, allowed to soak overnight in the proper solution before washing. After being set they are washed in warm water with a white soap, never with a brown alkali soap. Washing must be done quickly and the garments dried indoors.

Solutions to be used to "set" colored fabrics:

Pink, brown and black—two cupfuls of salt to one gallon of cold water. Blue—one-half cupful of salt to a gallon of cold water.

Green, purple, lavender—a tablespoonful of sugar of lead to one gallon of water.

Mixed goods, blue, green, brown—a cupful of turpentine to a gallon of water.

How to Nip a Cold Before It Gets a Hold on You.

If you find you have caught cold in spite of precaution, nip it in the bud. The time to attack a cold in order to cure it is at the very start. At the first shiver or the first cough begin to fight it. Drink plenty of fresh water, eat lightly and get plenty of sleep.

Before going to bed take a hot bath and drink a hot lemonade. Then cover up warmly and be sure there is no draft between the windows and the door, but have the windows open enough to get plenty of air in the room. This treatment will probably cause you to perspire freely, and you must be careful not to throw off the covers and expose your overheated body to more cold.

If this treatment is taken at the start and carefully adhered to it will probably drive the cold right out of your system. But if you do not treat it at the very beginning it will have to run its course gradually.

How to Relieve Certain Pains by Homemade Remedies.

Mustard is the nearest approach to a universal cure-all. Few pains will not give way before a mustard plaster, and a wide range of internal inflammations from colds and other causes may be stopped by its timely application. It is the first and best resort in throat and pneumonia.

Hot milk, heated to as high a temperature as it can be drunk, is a most refreshing stimulant in cases of cold or over fatigue. Its action is very quick and grateful. It gives real strength, as well as acting as a food.

How to Fashion a Gold Braided Collar That is So Modish.

Gold braided collars are distinctly smart with simple little trotteur frocks of dark neutral toned pussy willow or felle classique. The collar is usually of white silk and is edged all around with flat, dull gilt braid about half an inch wide. From the points of the collar, and most collars have points these days, depend tiny gold tassels.

STUBBORN ECZEMA HEALED BY AMOLOX

We are daily receiving letters of praise from people who have been cured by Amolox. Many of them tell how, for years, they have tried different remedies and doctors in the vain effort to find relief. Some become discouraged and lose all hope of ever being cured. E. K. Frisbee, 187 Sycamore St., Mansfield, O., writes: "Our baby's face was covered with eczema scales, sores and scabs. She was a pitiable sight. We tried everything. Took her to Pittsburgh doctors but were unable to find any relief until we used Amolox. It cured her within a short time."

Amolox ointment will quickly heal pimples on the face, red nose, and minor skin troubles. Chronic cases of dry or moist scaly eczema require both the ointment and liquid to effect a cure. At all drug stores. Trial size, 50c. Recommended and guaranteed by Coover & Shreve.—Ad7.

LARGE CLASS GRADUATED AT ILLINOIS WOMAN'S COLLEGE

Seventieth Anniversary Exercises Notable in Many Ways—Bishop Lewis of Foochow, China, Gave Address—Gymnasium Will Be Erected This Year.

A great audience gathered Wednesday morning for the commencement exercises of the seventieth year of Illinois Woman's college. The address was by Bishop Wilson S. Lewis of Foochow, China, and President Harker's annual statement was of special interest, giving as it did a clear idea of the growth of the college during recent years and opening up the president's vision of coming years. At the conclusion of the president's statement, as the candidates of the several departments were presented by the heads of the departments, the diplomas were awarded by President Harker. Five states were represented in the list of students receiving diplomas, indicating in some measure how wide a field the college work is covering.

The invocation was by Rev. David P. Wilson of Tonica, Ill., an official visitor from Central Illinois conference, and the scripture reading included passages given by the student body in unison and other selections read by Rev. T. R. Glotfelty of Brownstown, official visitor to the college from the Southern Illinois conference. The benediction was pronounced by Dr. F. M. Rule. Following the academic procession, when speakers, trustees, members of the faculty and students entered the auditorium, the Triumphal March by Silas, was played by Professor Henry V. Stearns.

Following the invocation and the scripture reading, the audience joined in singing a hymn, "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee." Then followed the commencement address, after which Miss Lazelle sang Hayden's "With Verdure Clad." The president's statement and the presentation of diplomas and the conferring of degrees occupied the next place on the program, and the exercises were concluded with the college song, the benediction and the recessional. As the speakers, trustees and others moved from Music Hall into the reception rooms of the college, Mr. Stearns played Calkin's "Festal March." In the reception room the graduates received their friends and the rooms were crowded for more than an hour. A luncheon followed the reception.

Bishop Lewis Made Address. In presenting Bishop Lewis, Dr. Harker referred to the Woman's college as the mother of bishops, as he told by name ten members of the episcopacy who were elected to that high rank following their invitation and acceptance to deliver the addresses at the Woman's college. When Bishop Lewis was speaker at the college some years ago he was president of Morningside college at Sioux City, Iowa, and came here with two other ministers, all three now serving as bishops. Bishop Lewis' work has been in China, and President Harker gave intimation of how great that work has been. Bishop Lewis based his address upon the character of Dorcas. He spoke in wonderfully simple language and with the eloquence of a forceful man who has a deep insight into real spiritual values. It was a strong sermon—or address, which ever one might choose to term it—and glorified the beauty and dignity of service.

Dorcas was held up as an exemplification of those qualities which are admirable in womankind and which are readily attainable if one follows in life the right ideals and has in view not self but service. In closing he said that as told in the Bible, when Dorcas died all the widows and the poor with one accord were in tears, and in their weeping it came to them to send for the man who seemed to them most like the Christ. So their cry went out to Peter and he came to where Dorcas had lived and found them weeping. They showed him the garments that she had wrought, they told him of her love as manifested in unceasing work. So Peter was enabled to look back at the real life of Dorcas. To him those stitches were the work of the marks of the eternal life of sacrifice.

The Beauty of Service. One of the favorite illustrations of the speaker was the sunbeam, which with its heat and light, forms such an important factor in everyday life. As the sunbeam is but a reflection from the heart of the sun, so good works in mankind spring from the heart. The old story of Dorcas, the speaker said, was retold in the lives of many mothers, who with nobody to see them, nobody to thank them, work on by day and night, glad to find recompense in the knowledge that they are being useful to others. "Many hearts in this world break for want of an interpreter, but Peter was able to interpret the character of Dorcas, and as I said, he saw eternal life in those stitches—that they had been made by one who could never die. So Peter prayed and Dorcas opened her eyes, and so once again the sunbeam of her life came to light up the commonplace. This morning I pray that President Harker, this college and you students may live long, that the sunbeam of service and righteousness may be reflected thru your lives and become the glory of life, and eventually that you all may stand on the Mount of Transfiguration."

President Harker's annual report was given as follows, and because of the 70th anniversary gave more than the usual details.

President's Statement

"June 7, 1916.

"The seventieth anniversary of the founding of the college surely calls for an expression of special gratitude to God and His continued blessing on this college, and of appreciation and honor for all the men and women who, with unshrinking faith and heroic sacrifice and unwearied energy and persistence laid the foundation in 1846. No less worthy were the friends of the sixties and the seventies and the eighties, who in spite of repeated fires, and difficulties impossible for us to understand rebuilt it, making still more sure its foundation, and bequeathing it to us with a record of which any college might be justly proud.

"It is now twenty-three years since I became president in 1893. These have been years of remarkable providence, in freedom from accident and sickness, in material enlargement and in advancement toward college ideals. The year just closing has been in many respects the best year of all the period. We are grateful to God for those continued and multiplied mercies, and thankful to the increasing hosts of friends whose interest and help make these advances possible.

Brief comparisons and summaries will make clear how remarkable the advance of the college has been in these twenty-three years, in students, faculty standards and courses of study, in buildings and equipment and in financial resources.

1. The Increase in Students

In 1893 there were 128 students.

In 1896 there were 150 students.

In 1906 there were 250 students.

In 1916 there were 350 students.

The increase in boarding students is still more marked.

In 1893 there were 29 boarding students.

In 1896 there were 50 boarding students.

In 1906 there were 130 boarding students.

In 1916 there were 110 boarding students.

And the number would be greater still if there could be provided additional dormitory room.

But the increase in the number of students is not as significant as is the change in the kind of grade of the students. In the earlier years quite a number were enrolled as primary, intermediate and grammar grade students. In 1905 the primary department was dropped, in 1906 the intermediate, and in 1907 the grammar grades. But the numbers enrolling each year in the higher classes increased more rapidly than those who were dropped by the elimination of the lower.

"In 1908 the college advanced to standard college rank, requiring four

JERRY COX INJURED WEDNESDAY BY FALLING TREE LIMB

City Commissioner Was Superintending Work When Accident Happened.

Yesterday afternoon Commissioner Jerry Cox was overseeing two men get away a limb which had fallen from a tree by Dr. Griswold's home on West State street when he was painfully but not dangerously hurt. The limb in question had been projected over the walk by the storm and the workmen had a rope tied to it and were endeavoring to get it away. C. H. Russell, Ralph Dunlap, R. R. Stevenson, Miller Weir and some others were watching the operation when the accident happened. While the men were pulling at the limb Mr. Cox stepped under it and it suddenly broke and fell prostrating him to the earth.

Mr. Weir summoned Dr. C. E. Cole who carefully examined Mr. Cox and found that his leg was badly bruised, his face cut and his left hand injured. Fortunately Miss Anna Brown happened along in her automobile and offered her assistance so Mr. Cox was helped into the car and R. R. Stevenson and Ralph Dunlap accompanied him home. He was resting as well as could be expected last evening and hopes to be on duty before very long. Mr. Cox is a conscientious official and his numerous friends hope he will not long be indisposed.

Miss Edith White of Chapin was among the shoppers in the city yesterday.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW BUILDINGS AT WOMAN'S COLLEGE

Gymnasium and Addition to Library Will Be Erected This Year—Interesting Ceremonial in Which Many Took Part.

The luncheon following the reception to graduates at Illinois Woman's college Wednesday afternoon was an informal affair, no program being carried out. Following the luncheon two of the most interesting events of commencement took place, that of breaking ground for the addition to the library and for the new gymnasium. The contract has already been let for the gymnasium for which bids will soon be asked.

After luncheon the assembled company led by President Joseph R. Harker went to the ground where the library addition is to be erected. Dr. Harker carried the ribbon bedecked spade which has done service on similar occasions for more than thirty years.

Bishop Lewis was introduced by Dr. Harker and made a brief address and turned the first spade of earth for the building. Bishop Lewis was followed by Dr. Pitner, president of the board of trustees, Dr. Harker, Mrs. Harker, Mrs. Griffith of Springfield the only living member of the class of 1852, the second class to graduate from the school and Mrs. Lambert. They were followed by the presidents of the various student organizations and classes, Miss Amy Mothershead, dean of the college, Dr. F. A. McCarty, representing the ministers, Mrs. Louise Emory Brannen, president of the St. Louis society of the college, Mrs. Edward Clifford, president of the Chicago society, Mrs. W. A. Fay president of the Alumnae association, Mrs. Albert Pratt, president of the Springfield society, Mrs. Leda Ellsberry Bird, president of the Kansas City society and Mrs. W. H. DeMotte of Indianapolis, Ind., whose husband was a former president of the college.

Following the ceremony of breaking ground for the library the company went to the site for the new gymnasium where the ceremony of breaking ground was again carried out in charge of Bishop Lewis. Practically all of those who took part in the ceremonies of the library took part in the ceremonies attendant to the breaking of ground for the gymnasium with the addition of Edmund Blackburn, a long time member of the board of trustees. At the close of the ceremonies Bishop Lewis pronounced the benediction.

RICHARD REYNOLDS RECEIVES HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMA

Letter from Mr. Collins Explains Reason for Sending "Sheepskin" Now.

Richard Reynolds has received his high school diploma. "Dick" was a member of the graduating class of 1915 but was refused his diploma for alleged disobedience of the rules of the board of education. The diploma was sent to Reynolds by former superintendent of schools Charles E. Collins a few days ago. Accompanying the diploma was a letter from Mr. Collins which is given hereunder:

"Jacksonville, Ill., June 1, 1916.
"Mr. Richard Reynolds, 1235 West College avenue, Jacksonville, Ill.

"Dear Sir—I herewith send you your diploma, which certified that you have been graduated from the Jacksonville high school. I would have sent this earlier had it not been for the fact that I knew if it were sent to you before the election, some people in Jacksonville would say that I was doing it for political effect. Now that I am leaving Jacksonville, and perhaps will never see you again, and therefore can not expect any favors from you or your friends by this act, I have decided to send it.

"I have reached this decision for two reasons. First, your behavior in the high school was generally good, and we had to refuse you your diploma entirely because you refused to obey the rules of the school, and I have never been fully convinced that you understood the full effect of it.

"Second, I was of the opinion at that time and am stronger of the opinion at this time, that other people were more to blame at that time for your acts in connection with your disobedience than you were yourself. Recent happenings in Jacksonville have fully convinced me that these parties were to a great extent the cause of the trouble at that time; and that they did it for the purpose of injuring me.

"I have, therefore, decided that I will not continue to punish the wrong person and will send you your diploma and await future time to see if these guilty parties will not eventually get their punishment.

"Yours truly,
"Charles E. Collins"

Will Return to Work Which He Carried on Successfully for Several Years.

George W. Scott, manager of the Hotel Douglas, has just purchased stock in the New Pacific Hotel company and will become secretary of that company. The change probably will take place about June 15. Mr. Scott will not be new to the Pacific patronage, as he was before assuming management of the Douglas associated with the New Pacific for three years.

He was formerly chief clerk and office manager of the Pacific. When the Ballard-Johnson company leased the Douglas they engaged Mr. Scott as manager. He took up the work last November and under his direction the Douglas has become one of the most popular hostleries in the city. He leaves the work with much regret but feels that he could not afford to lose the opportunity of becoming one of the owners of the New Pacific.

Edward A. Brennan who is in charge of the Pacific hotel feels that it will be pleasing to the traveling public to again have Mr. Scott associated with the hotel. It is not known at this time who will be made manager of the Douglas but W. M. Ballard of the company is expected in the city soon when definite arrangements probably will be made.
